

Installing ThemeStock.com Templates

The ThemeStock.com (<http://www.themestock.com>) templates are designed for many different types of CMS (Content Management System) products. Therefore, in order to use the templates that have been downloaded, the CMS must first be installed before the template is installed in most cases.

To find online instructions on installing both CMS products, CMS templates, as well as other related information, please visit the online tutorial section of ThemeStock.com at:
